

ROSE YOUNG IN WHEELING

Pittsburg Police Locate Young Woman After Days of Labor

LAST CLUE HAS FAILED

Police Have Nothing More on Which to Work in Local Mystery

Rose Young, the person, for whom the Pittsburg police were searching and who it was thought possible was the woman found along the river shore between here and Speers on January 23, has been found in Wheeling, W. Va., and is alive and well.

She disappeared from 725 McPherson street, East End, on December 31, and has not been seen since. Her trunk had been left in the home and the woman who had been hired by the family following her disappearance, would not occupy the room, so the police were instructed to remove the trunk, which they did. Pictures, and the resemblance of the girl to that of the one whose body was found on the shore here led to the connection of the two. Investigations were made however, and the Miss Young has been located in Wheeling, by the police of that place.

It is only another clue gone is them all. The Charleroi police have worked themselves out and have practically given up hope of ever being able to establish the identity of the woman who was found here. And the question of whether it was murder or not still troubles while there is no prospect of solution. It is generally thought however that it was murder.

Sudden End of Common Pleas Court

Only Two Cases Scheduled And They Are Held Over Till May Ten.

After the taking of a verdict in one case, the February term of common pleas court was adjourned yesterday morning by Judge J. F. Taylor. Attorney Carl E. Gibson, who was interested in four cases, was unable to be in court on account of illness, and as other cases listed for trial were continued with the exception of two which were for Thursday. Judges McIlvaine and Taylor, after a consultation, decided to continue these two cases, and discharge the jurors, thus bringing the work of the term to a close.

GETS BIG ORDER FOR LAKE TRADE

Pittsburg-Westmoreland Company Said to Have Been Favored

THE UNUSUAL ACTIVITY

Mines Being Put in Shape for Long and Continuous Run

It is stated that the Pittsburg and Westmoreland company has booked an order for 900,000 tons of coal for lake delivery the coming spring and summer. The contract if such there be, is a very large one, and the renewed activity at all the mines to the company in this section would indicate that something out of the ordinary is in the air. All the mines of the company have resumed in full, or are preparing to do so within the next few days. In any event, the resumption of these mines, which is an assured fact, will give employment to hundreds of men who have been either idle or on half time.

Woman Brings Suit For a Large Amount

$25,000 Involved in Case Against The Meadowlands Coal Company.

Gertrude B. Toward of Meadowlands has entered suit in this county against the Meadowlands Coal company to recover $25,000 damages for the death of her husband, James Toward who was killed in the defendant company's mine No. 2, at Arden, January 7, 1909.

Toward was employed as a motorman and while running a motor along the main haulage entry, collided with a mule which, it is alleged, was carelessly and negligently permitted to run at large. By the shock of the collision Toward was thrown from his seat and under the wheels of the motor, receiving injuries which resulted in instant death.

TO MINIMIZE THE EXTREME DANGER

Pennsy Agents Have Been in Vicinity for the Past Few Days

STRAIGHTEN M. & W.

One of Propositions is to Cut Off the Sharp Curve Near Monongahela

Agents of the Pennsylvania railroad in the past week have been in the vicinity of Stockdale, a little suburb of Monongahela trying to secure options of property near there, and a special significance it is stated is attached to their movements. It is at this point on the M. and W. branch that there is the "Dead Man's Curve," so known from the dangerous position. There is a sharp curve, and at some places it is difficult to see a train coming from a distance of 200 feet away. For this reason, the Pennsylvania plans to do away with it and straighten out the track.

It is stated that it is the plan of the company to construct a large yard some point along Pigeon Creek, near Monongahela. A big fill would be necessary, but the railroad could easily arrange this. These changes are made absolutely necessary by the increasing traffic on the M. and W. and which even now when all the mines are running full, congest the road to such an extent as to make it difficult to handle the trains.

Vazea.

At the St. Francis hospital yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Arthur Vazea, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vazea, of Shady avenue died. He was 23 years of age. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Charleroi cemetery. The deceased was a well known young Frenchman.

To Meet Today On Schedule

Pa. W. Va. Committee to Convene and Finish Up Matter

Today in Uniontown the schedule committee of the P. W. Va. league is holding their meeting and Harry Zellers, the chairman of the Pennsylvania committee is in attendance. At this meeting it is hoped that the schedule for the coming year can be arranged. The league will open on the second of May.

Charleroi this year will have a good team. The players which were sold to Wheeling, have been returned to this place and will form the nucleus of the team. McHale is working hard to secure players and the opinion is that Charleroi will be among the leaders this year.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANIES IN IT

Pittsburg and Charleroi, One Line in Particular That Offends City

SUITS ARE INSTITUTED

Found That Companies Have Not Been Living Up to Franchise

In Pittsburg yesterday two suits were filed by Attorneys for the city against the Pittsburg and Charleroi street railway company and the Pittsburg Railways company and one against the Pittsburg, Harmony, Butler and New Castle Street Railway company and the Pittsburg Railways company. Other suits will be brought against the Pittsburg and Washington company, the Pittsburg and Butler line and the Pittsburg Railways company and its subsidiaries company. It is alleged by the city that the companies have been violating the wording of their franchises, and causing congestion and danger through the running illegally of the large interurban cars on the route of the city lines when there were no franchises for such. The big Charleroi cars have caused the most complaint from this. It is from the effort of Mayor Guthrie to clean up trolley matters in the city and get better service. The people are in sympathy with his work.

FEEHAN HITS AT MINE OFFICIALS

Says Mining Laws Have Not Been Enforced in the Past

ASKS FOR SUB-DIVISION

As was Told in Mail Previous-ly It is Desire to Have Sub-Districts

The convention of the miners of the Sixth district opened at Pittsburg yesterday and President Feehan presided. In the afternoon the report of President Feehan took up considerable time. In it he stated that the mining code as it had been prepared and was to be presented for adoption was impractical, and declared that the neglect of the state through their officials to properly enforce the present mining laws, was in no small way responsible for the disasters in mines of the past.

President Feehan made his report of the plan for the sub-division of the district, as published exclusively in the Mail on Saturday.

Turnkey Doyle Acquitted But Bungard Guilty

Jury Reported On Doyle's Case Last Night At 7 O'clock.

John Doyle, jail turnkey of the Fayette county jail charged with having furnished liquor to prisoners was acquitted yesterday by the jury and the costs of the proceedings were placed on the county. The jury was out about two hours, returning the verdict to Justice J. Q. Van Swearingen about 7 o'clock last evening. John Bungard, the former jail warden, was convicted on two counts and acquitted on seven counts. This conviction is based on the charges involving John Stanley, the Yauger Hollow robber, and Lizzie Erhart. Bungard admitted permitting Stanley to get a drink at the Gallatin hotel bar.

It was stated yesterday by Attorney H. S. Dumbauld that a motion for a new trial for Bungard would be filed today and leave will be asked to file reasons within 10 days.

ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED SOON

Largest Fuel Deal Ever Put Through in Western Pennsylvania

INVOLVES $50,000,000

Details Have Not Been Made Public--Will Mean New Organization

The announcement is expected to be made in a few days that the United States Steel company has purchased the immense coal holdings of J. V. Thompson in Greene and Fayette counties, and that Mr. Thompson will need a subsidiary company that will have control of the corporation's fuel supply. The above fact has been learned through pretty reliable sources and is credited by the leading financial men. The deal will be the largest fuel deal ever put through in Western Pennsylvania involving in excess of $50,000,000, although the exact amount cannot be learned.

Mr. Thompson is recognized as the coal king of Western Pennsylvania, where there is perhaps more undeveloped land than in any other place in the United States, and the richness of these fields made the steel company look upon them with greedy eyes. It is estimated that Mr. Thompson's holdings in Greene county alone were 170,000 acres. It is a well recognized fact that the most up-to-date corporations nowadays own their own fuel deposits. The deal may have some special significance in regard to the Greene and Fayette County coal.

Services Tonight.

Rev. L. S. Cole, arch deacon of the diocese of Pittsburgh will preach at St. Mary's Episcopal church this evening. Services will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

He is survived by the step daughter, one son 12 years of age and one daughter 7 years of age. He was 53 years old. The funeral will be tomorrow and interment will be in the Monessen cemetery. Fight on Standard Oil.
In Buffalo, N. Y., the Standard Oil company has been fined $20,000 for rebating, three railroads being involved. The fine has not been paid, however, in accordance with the usual method of the big corporation, but an appeal will be taken, and doubtless sometime in the future the fine be taken off. That is also the usual method. The people want to see the Standard Oil company made pay their fines, as they are assessed, and in this way stop them from the illegalities which they practice. It has not been any use to fight the corporation thus far, but it is to be hoped the situation changes.

Appropriation.
By the bill presented to the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, by Representative Shuck, we note that the appropriation that he asks for the Monessen General hospital of $15,000, for which he asks, is to be divided, $5,000 for the erection and the fitting up of the place, and the $10,000 for the maintenance. Inasmuch as the building that is to be erected is already feet purchased, the $10,000, in the event that the amount is appropriated of course, would go to the fitting up. This amount would be plenty for the purpose and doubtless some of it would be turned over for the maintenance.

The State Mail mentioned the other day that the money for a hospital in the West Monessen, when there is no such incorporated place on the face of the map. The money might therefore go, for all the state knows to a place anywhere between here and Philadelphia that someone might care to designate as West Monessen. True the Pennsylvania railroad has named the North Charleroi station West Monessen but this of course does not apply to the other proposition of the hospital. For the hospital at North Charleroi we hope the money is granted but for a "West Monessen" hospital it is slightly different.

Notice is taken by the United States District Court of Appeals in Philadelphia of the real peril to passengers that many arise when the motor car meets a train of cars at a crossing. The power disastrously to derail under the right circumstances of impact lies undoubtedly with the ponderous road machine, so that quite literally the engineer might be admonished to look out for the auto when the horn honk-honks.

SCHOOL NOTES

Tidbits of News from the Seat of Learning in Charleroi—Edited by Superintendent of Schools, W. D. Wright.

Miss Iva Beazell has resigned her school. Miss Beazell was one of our good teachers and we are sorry indeed, to lose her.

Miss Ruth Rice has been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Beazell.

The illustrated lecture on Mexico was well attended by the pupils of the Seventh and Eighth Grades, but not many parents.

The Musical Contest is arranged for Thursday evening of this week. Every parent in the town should be present at this meeting. Come now, show us how you can turn out when you take the notion. The hour is 8 p. m. and the admission is free.

Prof. Sloan has been confined to his bed during the past few days on account of stomach trouble.

Miss Houseman was not working on Tuesday, on account of the serious illness of a very near relative.

Misses Della Martin and Della Swan spent Monday visiting schools in Uniontown.

At the last meeting of the school board they decided that the Superintendent should arrange for a cantata to be given in April. The proceeds are to go for the benefit of the School Children's Picnic.

All teachers and friends of education should arrange to attend one or more of the sessions of the Educational Rally to be held at California on next Saturday, the 20th day of March. The principal speaker is Dr. George P. Bible.

The following quotations are taken from the November number of the American Magazine: Fathers should get and read the complete article. "The fault with the public high school is that it was established with the idea that every boy was born mentally equal to his schoolmate, that every boy's brain, potentially, was capable of any development under a universal curriculum. It was the impression held by the pedagogues that every boy was made from the same germinal stuff: that all brain cells were capable of the same kind and amount of development, hence a common mold could be used for any and all."

"We must have schools where boys are taught that a blacksmith is a far better citizen than a political clerk who has a high school diploma, but is dependent upon the ward boss or saloon proprietor for his sporadic jobs."

Supt. J. M. Greenwood says: "It may be the very best thing for a child to be kept out of schools till it is eight or ten years old rather than to start it in at six. It can conceive of such a thing because I place good health foremost. I am clearly of the opinion that there is not so great danger in keeping children out of school till they are eight or nine years of age as there is in putting them into school at five or six, provided they have a place to play."

WOMEN ARE WOMEN.

A Rather Roundabout Way to Prove the Proposition.

Men say women are angels; women say women are cats. Let us pause a moment and reason upon this thing.

If women are angels—however, that does not seem to be the proper starting point. Let us try again.

If angels are cats—but, no; that is hardly reasonable, for angels have wings, and cats do not fly. We must begin again.

If women are cats—but that isn't possible, for cats do not talk, and how could a dumb animal express an opinion in words of a woman? Whatever cats may think, they never say a word about a woman, while women—well, women are not cats.

Now let us return to the first proposition.

If women are angels, they wouldn't say women are cats. Angels don't talk that way.

Once upon a time a man married a woman. He said she was an angel; the women said she was a cat. Happy man, not to know the difference between an angel and a cat!

Men say women are angels, and by this token women say angels are cats. Therefore, angels being cats, cats must be angels, and, both being the same, women are women.

Which is precisely what they are.—W. J. Lampton in Lippincott's.

Washing Hints.

To soften hard water put an ounce of quicklime into four gallons and a half of water, stir it thoroughly and allow it to settle. Then pour off the clear solution, which will be enough to add to four barrels of hard water.

Sheets, pillowcases, towels, tablecloths, all folded linens—should be laid upon the shelves with the open and hemmed ends toward the wall, the round folds outward. The effect is neater to the eye, and articles are more easily taken out.

NEW MEXICO.

How That Portion of Northern New Spain Got Its Name.

The country now called Mexico was not so called till 1810, when the revolt against Spain began. Up to independence the country was called New Spain and was divided into the same number of provinces as Spain, each with a name of a province in Spain, with the prefix of "new," but New Mexico was not included in this division. It got its name in this way:

In 1561 Francisco Ibarra was in charge of an expedition of exploration into what is now northern Durango and southern Chihuahua and discovered an Indian village near where Santa Barbara now stands in which the houses were whitewashed and the people made and wore cotton cloth, raising the cotton in the neighborhood. He wrote an account of his discovery to his brother in the City of Mexico, telling him he had discovered "una nueva Mexico," a new Mexico, another Mexico, meaning that he had found another town like the City of Mexico, and thereafter all this portion of northern New Spain was known as "Nueva Mexico"—that is, New Mexico—which name it has retained, though now much reduced in extent.—Las Vegas Optic.

The Real Reason.

"Why don't you go down Mill street?"

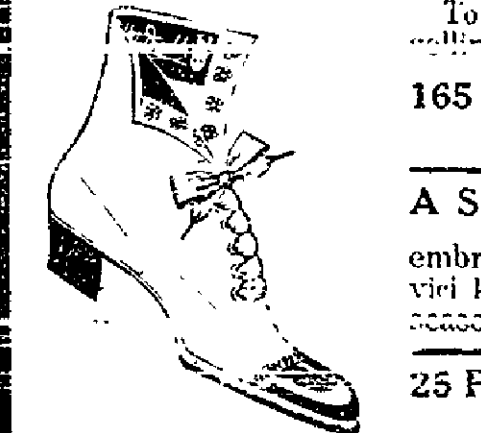

"Well, you see, on one side of it lives my tailor and on the other side my shoemaker, while a canal runs through the middle."—Merced for Blatter.

A Hint.

"You seem to be very fond of your dolly," remarked the visitor.
"Yes," replied small Maude. "She's so different from most people. She never interrupts me when I'm talking."—Chicago News.

TAKE PLENTY OF FOOD.

This Authority Says We Should Eat Heartily to Remain Well.

Statistics have shown the great value of abundant food. Dr. J. Robertson, an eminent surgeon of Manchester, England, has remarked that the families of working people when well fed maintained their health surprisingly, even while living in cellars. And he observed that during four years of prosperity the number of fever cases admitted to the Manchester House of Recovery was 421 per annum, while in two pinching years 1,207 cases per annum were admitted.

The ultimate effect of curtailing the food supply is to weaken the stomach so that it cannot digest what it once could easily. Thus the source from which our energy is derived is weakened to our great detriment. Now, as man is really no stronger than his stomach and as "good digestion waits on appetite and health on both" should we not rather seek to strengthen the stomach by giving it exercise than to enfeeble it by dieting? I think we should, and I think that persons with common sense will agree with me, Chittenden, Horace Fletcher and other dietitians notwithstanding. Loss of weight is the first symptom of falling health, and cutting the food supply invariably causes loss of weight.

To develop strong muscles we train them gradually to do strong work. In the same way we can by judicious care accustom even a weak stomach to digest hearty meals. But we cannot do this by forcing into the stomach more food than it calls for. We must first create the need of a greater quantity of a proper amount of bodily exercise. Of all cures for dyspepsia, with its accompanying languor, exercise is the best cure I know of.—G. Elliott Elliot in Outing Magazine.

A Result of the Earthquake.

Of the destruction of Messina a by-product is the loss of lineage and all trace of family. Many children too young to know their surnames or to pronounce them intelligibly have been rescued, and their names, fortunes, titles descents and origin have been absolutely cut off. They can tell no more than that they are "Bimbo" or "Rambina," "Nino" or "Nina." Many are obviously children whom women of rank have borne and loved and nurses tended. Italians take root in their provincial cities, and it often happens that a family has no connections beyond the walls. Even if distant uncles and aunts exist they cannot recognize children so young. Documents exist to attest the civil standing of many rescued adults, but the young children born in the world without genealogy or rights.

Savage Eagle Hawk.

Perhaps the deadliest foe of the Australian sheep farmer is the eagle hawk, and many and wonderful are the contrivances invented for its destruction or capture. A correspondent at Singleton says it is no uncommon thing for a farmer with a run of quite average extent to lose a hundred sheep in a season through the depredations of these voracious birds. "Their swoop is so sudden and so swift that it is practically impossible for the sheep on water or on ground to escape the attack, and their appetite for live mutton appears to be insatiable. They are occasionally caught by means of a trap attached to the carcass of a sheep and sometimes poisoned. But their numbers are nevertheless continually increasing."—London Standard.

The Sun's Shape.

Professor Charles Lewis Piazzi of the University of Padua, Italy, is continuing his researches on the nature of the sun, from which he concludes that its exact shape is not known. The generally accepted idea that the sun is a sphere is, he holds, at least open to question. Practically every series of measures shows departures from a spherical form. Of course the departures, considering the great size of the solar globe, are very minute. There seems to be a fluctuation in the shape of the sun corresponding in period with the sun spot cycle. There are also indications of a fluctuation having a period of about twenty-eight days.

EPIGRAMS OF A QUEEN.

Witticisms of Marie Lezinska, the Wife of Louis XV.

The wife of Louis the Well Beloved had more need than most of the consolations of wisdom and philosophy. That she possessed them both in a marked degree is quite evident. "To great goodness Marie Lezinska joined solid information," says Imbert de Saint-Amand in "The Court of Louis XV." "She knew six languages—Polish, French, Italian, German, Swedish, Latin. Men of letters were struck by the shrewdness of her judgment on things of the mind. Several of her maxims have been preserved, which attest a lofty soul and a profound knowledge of the human heart. Here are some of them: 'We ought not to reflect more on the faults of others than will suffice to preserve ourselves from them.' 'Human wisdom teaches us to conceal our pride; religion alone destroys it.' 'To live peacefully in society we must open our eyes to the qualities which please us and shut them on the follies and caprices which shock us.' 'The women who pique themselves most on knowing what it is allowable for them to be ignorant of are those who care least about it.' 'Lug themselves concerning what it is shameful not to know.' 'Many princes have regretted when drunk that they had made war; we never see any who repented of having loved peace.' 'Good kings are slaves, and their people are free.' 'The only thing which can make amends for the slavery of the throne is the pleasure of doing some good.' 'In politics, as in morals, the shortest way to make men happy is to endeavor to make them virtuous.'"

WOMAN WHO WOULDN'T.

Idiotic Feminine Pose That Altogether Lacks Sense.

If some women and girls can't be great martyrs and are denied the exalted joy of being burned at the stake or otherwise sacrificed, they do not intend to blush unseemingly. They fix up their own little role of martyrdom and play it to the bitter end—bitter, that is, to those who have to listen to tales of it, for, be it known, the role is milk and honey to whoever plays it.

As a rule, the feminine martyr starts in to do good to some one near and dear to her. So far so good. That surely is something to admire. But it's the way she goes about it. Perhaps it's a young brother that she's supporting. She assures you she could not earn money for herself; it's only for love of him, and that in face of the fact that she owns no property and hasn't a penny of income. Could anything be siller or weaker or more puerile? How else would she live?

Another type better off in worldly goods, declares that she wears pretty clothes only to please her children or her father or her friend. Why apologize? Very likely she does not make herself dangerously lovely after all.

Another species of good thing to eat. Again, why apologize? As well apoloze for being respectable or having a little sense.

This being interesting, or at least in the limelight at all costs, is interesting.

The Next Station.

In New Zealand an automatic device has just been patented for telling the way from one station to another of the next station. The names of the various stations are printed on a circular disk, which is rotated by toothed wheels. A "tripper" is placed either on the track or by its side between each station, and this is so adjusted as to strike a lever on the passing car. The motion is communicated to the toothed wheels, and the roll bearing the station names, and the ringing of an automatic bell, which is so adjusted as to give the fact that the name of the next station is in view.

The Power of Caste.

That caste has a great power in modern India is shown by an incident which occurred during the recent trial of dynamite bomb conspirators in Calcutta. An Indian inspector of police happened to stumble against one of the prisoners, a Brahman, as he was passing to his place in court. Instantly the police officer bent down and, taking the dust from the Brahman's feet, humbly begged his pardon. And the prisoner, who resented the accidental contact, accepted his apology as no more than his due.

Do You Realize?

That despondency in women is a mental condition often traceable to some distinctly female ill!

Women who are well do not have the blues, neither are they irritable and restless. Derangement of the female organism breeds all kinds of miserable feelings such as backache, headache, and bearing-down feelings. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is no doubt that it has made many remarkable cures of female ills after all other means had failed. There is hardly a day that some woman does not write us that this simple old medicine, made only of roots and herbs, has cured her of a severe illness after several doctors had done their best and failed.

Here are two such letters—read them—they are genuine and reliable.

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery to me. I had suffered with female troubles so long that I was discouraged. I had given up all hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It restored my health and I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends."—Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

Rockland, Me.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side and was miserable in every way. I had doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it.

"After taking three bottles I never was so well in my life. I am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. Will Young, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Skilful Hindoo Juggling.
The Hindoo jugglers and acrobats are the most skilful in the world, and we are always hearing new stories of them. One of the latest stories is about a performer who went through many wonderful feats perched on top of a single bamboo stick about fifteen feet in height. The top of the stick was tied to a grille around his waist, and a leg rest was provided by a cushion a few feet down the pole. Perched on this slender stick, he hopped and danced around in the liveliest way, accompanied by the tapping of a drum. It would be considered a skilful feat to walk about with ease on a pair of stilts fifteen feet in height, but this Hindoo showed a marvelous power of equilibrium on a single stick. He did other things even more wonderful. For example, he balanced a light stick on his nose and a heavy one on his chin and then threw the heavy one into the air with his head and caught it on the end of the light one. While balancing the two sticks thus, end on end, he made one revolve in one direction and the other in another direction.

An Unexpected Reward.
Some people never perform an act of kindness without hoping to receive a reward. Often such people are disappointed, much after the fashion of the two boys in the following story. An old lady was counting her money and while doing so dropped a coin. It fell into a wood box full of wood and shavings. She was almost frantic at her loss, being a miserly woman. Seeing two boys playing near her home, she called to them.

"If you find my piece of money I will give you a cent."

The boys began hunting eagerly for the lost coin. At the end of an hour they gave a shout of delight, for the piece of money had been discovered. The old lady grasped her precious coin and, seeing that they had found the reward, she took a soft, downy little bottle which had contained some perfume and gave each boy a scent of the fragrant odor.

"You need," said a neighbor to the sufferer, "two hats of glasses, one for reading and one for long distance."

A Funny Family.

"What makes your hair snap?" asked the child who was watching his mother comb her hair.

"Electricity," his mother replied. "We are a funny family," remarked the child after a few moments of thought. "The other day you said paper had wheels in its head, and now you've got electricity in your hair. If you put your hands together, you might make an electric motor, mightn't you?"—New York Times.

A Matter of Punctuation.

One of the elegant writers who report the costumes and etiquette at Washington penned this in his or her account of a presidential reception: "Mrs. X. wore nothing in the way of a dress that was remarkable."

The slipshod English was handsomely corrected by the pedantic but unhumorous printer thus: "Mrs. X. wore nothing in the way of a dress. That was remarkable."—Argonaut.

An Artist's Mustache.

The mustache was not viewed with favor in England in the middle of the last century. An anecdote is told of the late Thomas Cooper, the English author of Blackmore. He was brought before a magistrate in 1816 on some minor charge and was described in the police report as being "fashionably dressed, with large mustaches." The Art Journal of the date, commenting on it, said that "no member of the Royal academy perpetrates the atrocity of mustaches, a most un-English affectation." Mr. Cooper became a member of the academy a few years later.

"You expect your boy to become a good man?"
The mother's face fell.
"He is not a brilliant child," she made answer doubtfully. "No, I think I shall have to be content if he attains only a moderate success—becomes a

FOR THE CHILDREN

Why We Need Blankets.
The blankets that we sleep under at night are thicker and heavier and warmer than the clothing we wear during the day. They must be so to insure our comfort. Why?

If we lie down on a couch to take a nap in our day clothing we are almost sure to take cold unless we add some sort of covering. Why? These are among the thousand and one "common things" that everybody knows without stopping to think about the reason, but there is a reason for everything and we ought to find it out.

In this case the reason may be found in the operation of the blood. The warmth of the body depends on the circulation being vigorous, and when we are lying down the heart's action is much quieter than when we are sitting up or moving, the beats being about ten less a minute.

If the beats are ten less each minute they are ten less in one hour, and in eight hours, an average night's sleep, they are 800 less. As the heart beats 72 times a minute, each beat, it pumps out or lifts about 5 ounces of blood, and in one hour pumps out 4200 ounces, or 262 1/2 pounds. If it pumps out 800 less in eight hours, it pumps out 2000 ounces, or 125 pounds less. That makes a difference in the amount of heat produced in the body. So we must have heavier clothing when we sleep.

A Dickens Manuscript.
H. F. Dickens, H. C. Dickens' son, is writing a story concerning the original manuscript of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old school fellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for $50. Then it passed into the hands of George Churchill, an enthusiastic antiquary collector. Mr. Churchill treasured it until 1882, when circumstances compelled him to part with it. After photographing every page of it, it was sold to Mr. Bennett, a Birmingham bookseller and curio dealer, who eventually found a purchaser, who readily signed a check for £200 for it. Finally it was bought by Samuel M. Samuel of Kensington Palace Gardens for £300, who is said to still retain the precious document.—London Tit-Bits.

A LIBERAL OFFER

John W. Carroll Guarantees to Cure Dyspepsia. If He
Fails, the Medicine
Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people of Charleroi that indigestion and dyspepsia is curable and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will effect the cure, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give complete satisfaction to anyone giving it a trial.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets largely due to the new and successful method of manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth, Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with carminative and their agents.

Bismuth Subnitrate and Pepsin are recognized by the entire medical profession as essential for curing indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pep in used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet is manufactured by a new process which develops its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid, and excites gastric secretion upon all the glands which supply all the other elements necessary to proper assimilation and digestion.

The carminatives add properties which promptly relieve the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food.

The perfect combination of these ingredients make a remedy absolutely incomparable and invaluable for the complete cure of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so positively certain of this that we sell Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet on our own personal guarantee that they will either cure you or cost you nothing. Three sizes 25c, 45c and 59c. John W. Carroll, Charleroi, Pa.

ROSE YOUNG IN WHEELING

Pittsburg Police Locate Young Woman After Days of Labor

LAST CLUE HAS FAILED

Police Have Nothing More on Which to Work in Local Mystery

Rose Young, the person, for whom the Pittsburg police were searching and who it was thought possible was the woman found along the river shore between here and Speers on January 28, has been found in Wheeling, W. Va., and is alive and well.

She disappeared from 725 McPherson street, East End, on December 31, and has not been seen since. Her trunk had been left in the home and this, who had been hired by the family following her disappearance, would not empty the room, as the police were instructed to remove the trunk, which they did. Pictures, and the resemblance of the girl to that of the one whose body was found on the shore here led to the connection of the two. Investigations were made, however, and the Miss Young has been located in Wheeling, by the police of that place.

It is only another clue gone as them all. The Charleroi police have worked themselves out and have practically given up hope of ever being able to establish the identity of the woman who was found here. And the question of whether it was murder or not still troubles while there is no prospect of solution. It is generally thought however that it was murder.

Sudden End of Common Pleas Court

Only Two Cases Scheduled And They Are Held Over Till May Ten.

After the taking of a verdict in one case, the February term of common pleas court was adjourned yesterday morning by Judge J. F. Taylor. Attorney Carl E. Gibson, who was interested in four cases, was unable to be in court on account of illness, and as other cases listed for trial were continued with the exception of two which were for Thursday. Judges McIlvaine and Taylor, after a consultation, decided to continue these two cases, and discharge the jurors, thus bringing the work of the term to a close.

Pittsburg-Westmoreland Company Said to Have Been Favored

THE UNUSUAL ACTIVITY

Mines Being Put in Shape for Long and Continuous Run

It is stated that the Pittsburg and Westmoreland company has booked an order for 900,000 tons of coal for lake delivery the coming spring and summer. The contract if such there be, is a very large one, and the renewed activity at all the mines to the company in this section would indicate that something out of the ordinary is in the air. All the mines of the company have resumed in full, or are preparing to do so within the next few days. In any event, the resumption of these mines, which is an assured fact, will give employment to hundreds of men who have been either idle or on half time.

Woman Brings Suit For a Large Amount

$25,000 Involved in Case Against The Meadowlands Coal Company.

Gertrude B. Toward of Meadowlands has entered suit in this county against the Meadowlands Coal company to recover $25,000 damages for the death of her husband, James Toward who was killed in the defendant company's mine No. 2, at Arden, January 7, 1909.

Toward was employed as a motor-man and while running a motor along the main haulage entry, collided with a mole which, it is alleged, was carelessly and negligently permitted to run at large. By the shock of the collision Toward was thrown from his seat and under the wheels of the motor, receiving injuries which resulted in instant death.

TO MINIMIZE THE EXTREME DANGER

Pennsy Agents Have Been in Vicinity for the Past Few Days

STRAIGHTEN M. & W.

One of Propositions is to Cut Off the Sharp Curve Near Monongahela

Agents of the Pennsylvania railroad in the past week have been in the vicinity of Stockdale, a little suburb of Monongahela trying to secure options of property near there, and a special significance it is stated is attached to their movements. It is at this point on the M. & W. branch that there is the "Dead Man's Curve," so known from the dangerous position. There is a sharp curve, and at some places it is difficult to see a train coming from a distance of 20 feet away. For this reason, and the fact that it is near the road, the Pennsylvania plans to do away with it and straighten out the track.

It is stated that it is the plan of the company to construct a large yard some point along Pigeon Creek, near Monongahela. A big fill would be necessary, but the railroad could easily arrange this. These changes are made absolutely necessary by the increasing traffic on the M. & W. and which even now when all the mines are running full, congest the road to such an extent as to make it difficult to handle the trains.

To Meet Today On Schedule

Pa. W. Va. Committee to Convene and Finish Up Matter

Today in Uniontown the schedule committee of the P. W. Va. league is holding their meeting and Harry Zellers, the chairman of the Pennsylvania committee is in attendance. At this meeting it is hoped that the schedule for the coming year can be arranged. The league will open on the second of May.

Charleroi this year will have a good team. The players which were sold to Wheeling, have been returned to this place and will form the nucleus of the team. McHale is working hard to secure players and the opinion is that Charleroi will be among the leaders this year.

STREET RAILWAY COMPANIES IN IT

Pittsburg and Charleroi, One Line in Particular That Offends City

SUITS ARE INSTITUTED

Found That Companies Have Not Been Living Up to Franchise

In Pittsburg yesterday two suits were filed by Attorneys for the city against the Pittsburg and Charleroi street railway company and the Pittsburg Railways company and one against the Pittsburg, Harmon, Butler and New Castle Street Railway company. Other suits will be brought against the Pittsburg and Washington company, the Pittsburg and Butler line and the Pittsburg Railways company and its subsidiaries company. It is alleged by the city that the companies have been violating the wording of their franchises, and causing congestion and danger through the running illegally of the large interurban cars on the route of the city lines when there were no franchises for such. The big Charleroi cars have caused the most complaint from this. It is from the effort of Mayor Guthrie to clean up trolley matters in the city and get better service. The people are in sympathy with his work.

FECHAN HITS AT MINE OFFICIALS

Says Mining Laws Have Not Been Enforced in the Past

ASKS FOR SUB-DIVISION

As was Told in Mail Previously It is Desire to Have Sub-Districts

The convention of the miners of the Sixth district opened at Pittsburg yesterday and President Feehan presided. In the afternoon the report of President Feehan took up considerable time. In it he stated that the mining laws had been enforced and was to be presented for adoption was impractical, and declared that the neglect of the state through their officials to properly enforce the present mining laws, was in no small way responsible for the disasters in mines of the past.

President Feehan made his report of the plan for the sub-division of the district, as published exclusively in the Mail on Saturday.

Turnkey Doyle Acquitted But Bungard Guilty

Jury Reported On Doyle's Case Last Night At 7 O'clock.

John Doyle, jail turnkey of the Fayette county jail charged with having furnished liquor to prisoners was acquitted yesterday by the jury and the costs of the proceedings were placed on the county. The jury was out about two hours, returning the verdict to Justice J. Q. Van Swearingen about 7 o'clock last evening. John Bungard, the former jail warden, was convicted on two counts, and acquitted on seven counts. This conviction is based on the charges involving John Stanley, the Yauger Hollow robber, and Lizzie Erhart. Bungard admitted permitting Stanley to get a drink at the Gallatin hotel bar.

It was stated yesterday by Attorney H. S. Dumbauld that a motion for a new trial for Bungard would be filed today and leave will be asked to file reasons within 10 days.

ANNOUNCEMENT EXPECTED SOON

Largest Fuel Deal Ever Put Through in Western Pennsylvania

INVOLVES $50,000,000

Details Have Not Been Made Public—Will Mean New Organization

The announcement is expected to be made in a few days that the United States Steel company has purchased the immense coal holdings of J. V. Thompson in Greene and Fayette counties, and that Mr. Thompson will head a subsidiary company that will have control of the corporation's fuel supply. The above fact has been learned through pretty reliable sources and is credited by the leading financial men. The deal will be the largest fuel deal ever put through in Western Pennsylvania involving in excess of $50,000,000, although the exact amount cannot be learned.

Mr. Thompson is recognized as the coal king of Western Pennsylvania, where there is perhaps more undeveloped land than in any other place in the United States, and the richness of these fields made the steel company look upon them with greedy eyes. It is estimated that Mr. Thompson's holdings in Greene county alone were 170,000 acres. It is a well recognized fact that the most up-to-date corporations nowadays own their own fuel deposits. The deal may have some special significance in regard to the Greene and Fayette County coal.

Name of Dead Man Is Told By Daughter

John Elgin, the Man Killed On Railroad at Bamford Monday.

Last night the man who was killed on the railroad Monday morning by the train due here at 10:55, south bound, at Bamford, was identified as that of John Elgin, of Monessen. His step daughter was here last evening and said that it was her relative. He is a well known Russian and mill worker. Elgin had not been working on Monday and went to Bamford to visit friends.

He is survived by the step daughter, one son 12 years of age and on daughter 7 years of age. He was 5 years old. The funeral will be tomorrow and interment will be in Monessen cemetery. The body was removed from the Wycoff undertaking rooms this afternoon to the home. The coroner will hold an inquest later.

Fight on Standard Oil.

In Buffalo, N. Y., the Standard Oil company has been fined $20,000 for rebating, three railroads being involved.
The fine has not been paid, however,
in accordance with the usual method of the big corporation, but an appeal will be taken, and doubtless sometime in the future the fine be taken off.
That is also the usual method. The people want to see the Standard Oil company made pay their fines, as they are assessed, and in this way stop them from the illegalities which they practice. It has not been any use to fight the corporation thus far, but it is to be hoped the situation changes.

Appropriation.

By the bill presented to the House of Representatives at Harrisburg, by Representative Shuck we note that the appropriation that he asks for the Monessen General hospital of $15,000, for which he asks, is to be divided,
$5,000 for the erection and the fitting up of the place, and the $10,000 for the maintenance. Inasmuch as the building that is to be used has already been purchased, the $5,000, in the event that the amount is appropriated of course, would go to the fitting up.
This amount would be plenty for the purpose and doubtless some of it would be turned over for the maintenance.

But as the Mail mentioned the other day Mr. Shuck made a mistake in the asking of the appropriation for West Monessen, when there is no such incorporated place on the face of the map. The money might therefore go, for all the state knows to a place anywhere between here and Philadelphia that someone might care to designate as West Monessen. True the Pennsylvania railroad has named the North Charleroi station West Mon-essen but this of course does not apply to the other proposition of the hospital. For the hospital at North Charleroi we hope the money is granted but for a "West Monessen" hospital it is slightly different.

Notice is taken by the United Philadelphia of the real peril to passengers that many arise when the motor car meets a train of cars at a crossing. This is a new point and not negligible. The power disas-cumstances of impact lies undoubtedly with the ponderous road machine, so that quite literally the engineer might be admonished to look out for the auto

when the horn honk-honks.

WOMEN ARE WOMEN.

A Rather Roundabout Way to Prove
the Proposition.

Men say women are angels; women say women are cats. Let us pause a moment and reason upon this thing.
If women are angels—however, that does not seem to be the proper starting point. Let us try again.

If angels are cats—but, not that is hardly reasonable, for angels have wings, and cats do not fly. We must begin again.

If women are cats—but that isn't possible, for cats do not talk, and how could a dumb animal express an opinion in words of a woman? Whatever cats may think, they never say a word about a woman, while women—well,
women are not cats.

Now let us return to the first proposition.
If women are angels, they wouldn't say women are cats. Angels don't talk that way.

Once upon a time a man married a woman. He said she was an angel;
the women said she was a cat. Happily man, not to know the difference between an angel and a cat!

Men say women are angels, and by this token women say angels are cats.
Therefore, angels being cats, cats must be angels, and, both being the same, women are women.

Which is precisely what they are.—

Washing Hints.

To soften hard water put an ounce of quicklime into four gallons and a half of water, stir it thoroughly and allow it to settle. Then pour off the clear solution, which will be enough to add to four barrels of hard water.

Sheets, pillowcases, towels, tablecloths—all folded linens—should be laid upon the shelves with the open and hemmed ends toward the wall, the bound folds outward. The effect is neater to the eye, and articles are more easily taken out.

TAKE PLENTY OF FOOD.

This Authority Says We Should Eat Heartily to Remain Well.

Statistics have shown the great value of abundant food. Dr. J. Robertson, an eminent surgeon of Manchester, England, has remarked that the families of working people when well fed maintained their health surprisingly, even while living in cellars. And he observed that during four years of prosperity the number of fever cases admitted to the Manchester House of Recovery was 421 per annum, while in two pinching years 1207 cases per annum were admitted.

The ultimate effect of curtailing the food supply is to weaken the stomach so that it cannot digest what it once could easily. Thus the source from which our energy is derived is weakened to our great detriment. Now, as man is really no stronger than his stomach and as "good digestion waits on appetite and health on both" should we not rather seek to strengthen the stomach by giving it exercise than to enfeeble it by dieting? I think we should, and I think that persons with common sense will agree with me. Chittenden, Horace Fletcher and other dietitians notwithstanding. Loss of weight is the first symptom of failing health, and cutting the food supply invariably causes loss of weight.

To develop strong muscles we train them gradually to do strong work. In the same way we can by judicious care accustom even a weak stomach to digest hearty meals. But we cannot do this by forcing into the stomach more food than it calls for. We must first create the need of a greater quantity of a proper amount of bodily exercise. Of all cures for dyspepsia, with its accompanying languor, exercise is the best cure I know of.—G. Elliott Flint in Outing Magazine.

A Result of the Earthquake. Of the destruction of Messina a by-product is the loss of lineage and all trace of family. Many children too young to know their surnames or to pronounce them intelligibly have been rescued, and their names, fortunes, titles, descents and origin have been absolutely cut off. They can tell no more than that they are "Bimbo" or "Bambina," "Nino" or "Nina." Many are obviously children whom women of rank have borne and loved and nurses tended. Italians take root in their provincial cities, and it often happens that a family has no connections beyond the walls. Even if distant uncles and aunts exist they cannot recognize children so young. Documents exist to attest the civil standing of many rescued adults, but the young children begin the world without genealogy or rights.

Savage Eagle Hawk. Perhaps the deadliest foe of the Australian sheep farmer is the eagle hawk, and many and wonderful are the contrivances invented for its destruction or capture. A correspondent at Singleton says it is no uncommon thing for a farmer with a run of quite average extent to lose a hundred sheep in a season through the depredations of these carnivorous birds. "Their strength" in action is an animal that it is practically impossible for the sheep on which one pounds to resist the attack, and their appetite for live mutton appears to be insatiable. They are occasionally caught by means of a trap attached to the carcass of a sheep and sometimes poisoned. But their numbers are nevertheless continually increasing.—London Standard.

Professor Charles Lane Fox of the Columbia university observatory is continuing his researches on the figure of the sun, from which he concludes that its exact shape is not known. The generally accepted idea that the sun is a sphere is, he holds, at least open to question. Practically every series of measures shows departures from the spherical shape. The departures, considering the great size of the solar globe, are very minute. There seems to be a fluctuation in the shape of the sun corresponding in period with the sun spot cycle. There are also indications of a fluctuation having a period of about twenty-eight days.

EPIGRAMS OF A QUEEN.

Witticisms of Marie Leczinska, the Wife of Louis XV.

The wife of Louis the Well Beloved had more need than most of the consolations of wisdom and philosophy. That she possessed them both in a marked degree is quite evident. "To great goodness Marie Leczinska joined solid information," says Lambert de Saint-Amand in "The Court of Louis XV." "She knew six languages—Polish, French, Italian, German, Swedish, Latin. Men of letters were struck by the shrewdness of her judgment on things of the mind. Several of her maxims have been preserved, which attest a lofty soul and a profound knowledge of the human heart. Here are some of them: 'We ought not to reflect more on the faults of others than will suffice to preserve ourselves from them.' 'Human wisdom teaches us to conceal our pride; religion alone destroys it.' 'To live peacefully in society we must open our eyes to the qualities which please us and shut them on the follies and caprices which shock us.' 'The women who pique themselves most on knowing what it is allowable for them to be ignorant of are those who care least about increasing themselves concerning what it is shameful not to know.' 'Many princes have regretted when dying that they had made war; we never see any who repented of having loved peace.' 'Good kings are slaves, and their people are free.' 'The only thing which can make amends for the slavery of the throne is the pleasure of doing some good.' 'In politics, as in morals, the shortest way to make men happy is to endeavor to make them virtuous.'"

WOMAN WHO WOULDN'T.

Idiotic Feminine Pose That Altogether Lacks Sense.

If some women and girls could be great martyrs and are devoid of the exalted joy of being burned at the stake or otherwise sacrificed, they do not intend to blush unseen nevertheless. They fix up their own little role of martyrdom and play it to the bitter end—bitter, that is, to those who have to listen to tales of it, for, be it known, the only thing that is really and honestly plays it.

As a rule, the feminine martyr starts in to do good to some one near and dear to her. So far so good. That surely is something to admire. But it's the way she goes about it. Perhaps it's a young brother that she's supporting. She assures you she could not earn money for herself; it's only for love of him, and that in face of the fact that she owns no property and hasn't a penny of income. Could anything be sillier or weaker or more puerile? How else would she live?

Another type, better off in worldly goods, declares that she wears pretty clothes only to please her children or her father or her friend. Why apologize? Very likely she does not make herself dangerously lovely, after all. Another enters a good table because her husband likes good things to eat. Again, why apologize? As well apologize for being respectable or having a little sense.

This being interesting, or at least in the limelight at all costs, is tiresome.

The Next Station.

In New Zealand an automatic device has just been patented for telling railway passengers the name of the next station. The names of the various stations are printed on a roll, which is rotated by toothed wheels. A "tripper" is placed either on the track or by its side between each station, and this is so adjusted as to strike a lever on the passing car. The motion is communicated to the toothed wheels governing the roll bearing the station names, and the ringing of an automatic bell announces to the passengers the fact that the name of the next station is on view.

The Power of Caste.

That caste has a great power in modern India is shown by an incident which occurred during the recent trial of dynamite bomb conspirators in Calcutta. An Indian inspector of police happened to stumble against one of the prisoners, a Brahman, as he was passing by his place in court. Instantly the police officer bent down and, taking the dust from the Brahman's feet, humbly begged his pardon. And the prisoner, who resented the accidental contact, accepted his apology as being more than his due.

Do You Realize?

That despondency in women is a mental condition oft traceable to some distinctly female ill!

Women who are well do not have the blues, neither are they irritable and restless. Derangement of the female organism breeds all kinds of miserable feelings such as backache, headache, and bearing-down feelings. Try Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There is no doubt that it has made many remarkable cures of female ills after other means had failed. There is hardly a day that some woman does not write us that this simple old medicine made only of roots and herbs, has cured her of a severe illness after several doctors had done their best and failed.

Here are two such letters—read them—they are genuine and reliable.

Baltimore, Md.—"For four years my life was a misery. I had suffered with female troubles so long that I was discouraged. I had given up all hope of ever being well when I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It restored my health and I felt as though new life had been given me, and I am recommending it to all my friends. Mrs. W. S. Ford, 1938 Lansdowne St., Baltimore, Md.

Rockland, Me.—"I was troubled for a long time with pain in my back and side and was miserable in every way. I had doctored until I was discouraged and thought I would never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it.

"After taking three bottles I never was so well in my life. I am recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. Will Young, 6 Columbia Ave., Rockland, Me.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands in health free of charge. Address: Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

Skillful Hindoo Juggling.
The Hindoo jugglers and acrobats are the most skillful in the world, and we are always hearing new stories of their feats. One of the latest stories is about a performer who went through many wonderful feats perched on top of a single bamboo stick about fifteen feet in height. The top of the stick was tied to a girdle around his waist, and a leg rest was provided by a cushion a few feet down the pole. Perched on this slender stick, he hopped and danced around in the liveliest way, accompanied by the tapping of a drum. It would be considered a skillful feat to walk about with ease on a pair of stilts fifteen feet in height, but this Hindoo showed a marvelous power of equilibrium on a single stick. He did other things even more wonderful. For example, he balanced a light stick on his nose and a heavy one on his chin and then threw the heavy one into the air with his head and caught it on the end of the light one. While balancing the two sticks thus, end on end, he made one revolve in one direction and the other in another direction.

An Unexpected Reward.
Some people never perform an act of reward. Often such people are disappointed, much after the fashion of the two boys in the following story: An old lady was counting her money and while doing so dropped a coin. It fell into a wood box full of wood and shavings. She was almost frantic at her loss, being a miserly woman. Feeling that the coin might be found, she called to them.

"If you find my coin of money I will give you a reward."
The boys began hunting eagerly for the lost coin. At the end of an hour they gave a shout of delight for the piece of money had been discovered. The old lady approached her gratefully and, saying that they had earned the reward, went to a shelf and took down a bottle which had contained some perfume and gave each boy a scent of the fragrance.

A Third Need.

"You need," said the expert to the sufferer, "two pairs of glasses, one for reading and one for long distance."
"Can't you make it three pairs?" asked the man who had made a study of his own case. "I'd like some short sighted eyes to use on bill collectors."

A Funny Family.

"What makes your hair snap so?" asked the child who was watching his mother comb her hair.
"Electricity," his mother replied.
"We are a funny family," remarked the child after a few moments of thought. "The other day you said papa had wheels in his head, and now you've got electricity in your hair. If you put your heads together you might make an electric motor, mightn't you?"—New York Times.

A Matter of Punctuation.

One of the eloquent writers who reported the conference and attendance at Washington penned this in his of her account of a presidential reception: "Mrs. X. wore nothing in the way of a dress that was remarkable."
The slipshod English was handsomely corrected by the pedantic but un-humorous printer thus: "Mrs. X. wore nothing in the way of a dress. That was remarkable."—Argonaut.

An Artist's Mustache.

The mustache was not viewed with favor in England in the middle of the last century. An anecdote is told of the late Thomas Cooper, the English author of Black and White. He was brought before a magistrate in 1846 on some minor charge and was described in the police report as being "fashionably dressed, with large mustaches." The Art Journal of the date, commenting on it, said that "no member of the Royal Academy perpetrates the atrocity of mustaches, a most un-English affectation." Mr. Cooper became a member of the academy a few years later.

"You expect your boy to become a good man?"
The mother's face fell.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Why We Need Blankets.
The blankets that we sleep under at night are thicker and heavier and warmer than the clothing we wear during the day. They must be so to insure our comfort. Why?

If we lie down on a couch to take a nap in our day clothing we are almost sure to take cold unless we add some sort of covering. Why? These are among the thousand and one common things that everybody knows without needing to think about the reason. And there is a reason for everything, and we ought to find it out.

In this case the reason may be found in the circulation of the blood. The warmth of the body depends on the circulation being vigorous, and when we are lying down the heart's action is much quieter than when we are sitting up or moving, the heart being about ten less a minute.

If the heart is ten less each minute they are 60 less in one hour, and in eight hours, an average night's sleep, they are 480 less. As the heart sends out its waves of blood at each beat, it sends out or lifts about 3000 ounces less during eight hours' sleep than it lifts during the same time when we are up. That makes quite a difference in the circulation and therefore in the amount of heat produced in the body. So we must have heavier clothing when we sleep.

A Dickens Manuscript.

Mr. F. P. Church, N. C., tells an interesting story concerning the original manuscript of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old school-fellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for $50. Then it passed into the hands of George Churchill, an enthusiastic autograph collector. Mr. Churchill transferred it to Mr. C. in 1880, when Churchill was 100 years old.

A LIBERAL OFFER

John W. Carroll Guarantees to
Cure Dyspepsia. If He
Fails, the Medicine
Costs Nothing.

To unquestionably prove to the people of Charleroi that indigestion and dyspepsia is curable and that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will effect the cure, we will furnish the medicine absolutely free if it fails to give complete satisfaction to anyone giving it a trial.

The remarkable success of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets largely due to the new and successful method of manufacture, whereby the well-known properties of Bismuth, Subnitrate and Pepsin have been combined with carminative and their agents.

Bismuth Subnitrate and Pepsin are recognized by the entire medical profession as specific for acute indigestion and dyspepsia.

The Pep in used in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet is manufactured by a new process which develops its greatest efficiency. Pepsin supplies to the digestive apparatus one of the most important elements of the digestive fluid, and exerts a powerful influence upon all the glands which supply all the other elements necessary to proper assimilation and digestion.

The carminatives add properties which promptly relieve the disturbances and pain caused by undigested food.

The perfect combination of these ingredients make a remedy absolutely incomparable and invaluable for the complete cure of indigestion and dyspepsia.

We are so positively certain of this that we as Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets on our own personal guarantee that they will either cure you or cost you nothing. There is no risk, no cost, no nothing. Three sizes 25c, 50c and $1.00. John W. Carroll, Charleroi, Pa.
